

“Fall Asleep While I...”

The talking sleep format only — someone doing something, or talking about something, while you fall asleep. No music, no ambience, no rain loops. Ranked by what is performing this month, not all-time.

Voiced videos found	With real upload dates	Channels	Ranked by

The verdict in 60 seconds

The format is booming right now. Uploads in this format went from 4 per quarter in late 2024 to 55 in the current quarter. Videos posted in the last 6 months are pulling a median of 1,672 views per day against 859 for videos 1–2 years old. This is not a settled niche — it is mid-explosion.

The single biggest lever is WHAT you do, and the answer is mischief. Ranked by views per day: action / crime activities 9,374, build & tycoon 2,212, survival 1,689, facts 991, and cozy farming games dead last on 104. That is a 90× gap between “Fall Asleep While I Rob Rich People” and “fall asleep while I tend my farm”.

The channel to study is sleepyslorgs. 154,000 subs, every single one of its 24 videos posted in the last 12 months, median 351,859 views. Its newest — Fall Asleep While I Operate Heavy Artillery — did 602,431 views in 5 days = 120,486 views per day, the fastest-moving video in the whole dataset.

And a brand-new channel just proved it is still open. Kindly Sleepin’ went from 17 subscribers to 17,000 in about a week off one video: Fall Asleep While I Satisfyingly Clean Extremely Broken Game Consoles.

01 · METHOD

What this report counts

Only content where a person talks. Every music, ambience, rain, C418 and no-commentary longplay video was filtered out — 477 genuinely voiced sleep videos survived, across 123 channels. Real upload dates were then pulled per video so everything could be ranked by views per day since upload, which is the only fair way to compare a video posted last week with one posted in 2024.

WHY VIEWS PER DAY

Raw view counts reward old videos. A 2024 video with 3.4M views has had 600 days to get there; a video with 600,000 views in 5 days is moving 22× faster. Everything in this report is ranked the second way, because the question was what is working now.

THE HONEST LIMITS

Upload dates resolved for 139 of 477 videos before rate limiting — the rest still count in the corpus totals but not in the recency tables. Every recency figure below therefore rests on 139 dated videos plus an independently-gathered 154-video set, which agree with each other. Sub-genre classification is by title keyword. Where a number could not be pulled it is marked N/A rather than guessed.

02 · THE TREND

The format is accelerating

Newer videos perform better

UPLOADED	N	MEDIAN VIEWS/DAY
0–6 months ago	72	1,672
6–12 months ago	33	900
1–2 years ago	30	859

Videos posted in 2026 are running at a median 1,526 views/day against 762 for 2025 uploads. The audience is growing faster than the supply of videos.

But so is the competition

QUARTER	UPLOADS FOUND	MEDIAN VIEWS
2024 Q4	6	831,480
2025 Q2	6	470,667
2025 Q4	22	142,565
2026 Q1	18	60,598
2026 Q3	55	~15,600

9× more uploads per quarter than a year ago. Median views falling is dilution from a long tail of tiny new channels, not the format dying — the top end is still setting records.

WHAT THAT COMBINATION MEANS FOR YOU

Demand per video is rising and supply is rising faster. That is the profile of a format in its land-grab phase: still wide open, but not for much longer. The channels breaking in right now are doing it in weeks, not years — and the barrier is picking the right thing to do, not being big.

READ THE TITLES, NOT THE NUMBERS

Heavy artillery. Sniper players. Selling drugs. A nuclear bomb in a garden. Escaping prison. Worsening the housing crisis. Destroying nature for profit. The winning videos are funny and slightly wrong, delivered in a calm voice at 2am. The comedy is in the premise, not in the performance — which is exactly what makes it compatible with sleep.

04 · THE X

What to actually do, ranked

Every video classified by the activity in its title, then ranked by median views per day. This is the most decision-useful table in the report.

WHAT THEY DO	N	MEDIAN VIEWS/DAY	MEDIAN VIEWS	P90 VIEWS/DAY	MEDIAN LENGTH
Action / crime — robbing, sniping, dealing, assassinating	10	9,374	579,348	32,919	2h12
Build / tycoon sim — zoos, towns, theme parks	13	2,212	367,245	25,273	2h07
Survival / RPG — Zomboid, Subnautica, Oblivion	5	1,689	217,032	1,855	2h51
Mixed / other	44	1,108	181,645	3,993	2h16
Facts / lore narration	12	991	362,979	2,138	2h00
Generic Minecraft	18	559	64,745	2,448	2h09
Cozy / farming sim — Stardew, Sims, Animal Crossing	34	104	36,114	1,427	2h26

139 dated voiced sleep videos, bucketed by activity. Ranked by median views/day.

THE 90× RESULT

Action and crime beat cozy farming by 90× on views per day — and cozy is the single most crowded bucket in the data (34 videos, the largest). Everyone assumes sleep content must be gentle, so they all make the same gentle thing, and it all drowns. The demand is for a calm voice doing something the viewer finds funny or mildly outrageous.

A second, larger run of the same question

The same analysis was rebuilt independently on 130 dated videos with a stricter format filter. It disagrees with the table above on exactly one thing — where Minecraft lands — and agrees on everything else.

WHAT THEY DO	N	MEDIAN VIEWS/DAY
Crime-spree premise — no game named, just the deed	15	5,488
Minecraft sandbox	9	4,591
Reddit / personal stories over gameplay	7	2,675
Satirical tycoon ("Worsen the Housing Crisis")	4	2,149
Cozy sims (Sims 4, Town to City, Planet Zoo)	11	1,673
Facts / lore / quizzes	31	1,562

WHAT THEY DO	N	MEDIAN VIEWS/DAY
AAA narrative games (Skyrim, BG3, Subnautica)	7	1,509
Guided meditation / hypnosis	34	1,278

Independent classification, 130 dated voiced-sleep videos, ranked by median views/day.

WHERE THE TWO TABLES AGREE, AND WHERE THEY DON'T

Both put the crime / chaos premise first — that is the finding to act on, and it survives two different filters. They disagree on Minecraft: the stricter filter ranks it second (4,591/day), while the looser one ranks generic “play Minecraft” titles near the bottom. The reconciliation is in the titles themselves. Minecraft works as the engine; “Minecraft” does not work as the hook. “Fall Asleep While I Build An Arctic Research Base In Minecraft” does 2,797/day. “Fall asleep while I play Minecraft” on its own is a crowded shelf. Name the deed, not the game.

TWO TRAPS THE RAW VIEW COUNTS WILL LEAD YOU INTO

- 1. Guided meditation has the biggest numbers and the worst momentum. Those channels hold videos with 28M and 81M views — and the lowest median views/day in the table (1,278). Those are four-to-eight-year-old evergreen uploads compounding, not current performance. Ranking by raw views points you straight at the slowest-growing corner of the niche.
- 2. Big-name games underperform. Skyrim, Baldur’s Gate 3, Subnautica — the weakest real activity bucket at 1,509/day. Story and combat games do not read as background; sandbox and mischief do.

05 · THE RISING FORMAT

“Satisfying cleaning” is the newest thing that works

A cluster of channels started doing this within the last two months and every one of them is landing. It is the clearest new opening in the data.

CHANNEL	SUBS	UPLOADED	VIEWS	VIEWS/DAY	TITLE
Kindly Sleepin’	17,000	27 Aug 2026	52,471	6,559	Fall Asleep While I Satisfyingly Clean Extremely Broken Game Consoles
Kindly Keyin	609	22 Jul 2026	310,751	7,063	Fall Asleep While I Play Satisfying Video games
Kindly Keyin	609	2 Aug 2026	159,697	4,839	Fall Asleep While I Clean an Entire Supermarket

KozyKanz	11,300	21 Aug 2026	39,184	2,799	Fall Asleep While I Clean a Full Wine Cellar...
KozyKanz	11,300	12 Aug 2026	63,494	2,761	Fall Asleep While I Clean Up Sorcery Shops...

The cleaning / satisfying sub-format. All uploaded within the last ~7 weeks.

THE PROOF A NEW CHANNEL CAN STILL BREAK IN LAST MONTH

Kindly Sleepin’ went from 17 subscribers to 17,000 in roughly a week off a single video. Kindly Keyin has 609 subscribers and a video doing 7,063 views a day. These are not established creators coasting — they are people who picked the right premise in the last eight weeks. This is the strongest evidence in the report that the door is open now.

06 · THE CASE STUDY

sleepyslorgs — copy this channel

154,000

subscribers

24 / 24

videos posted in the last 12 months — the whole channel is new median views per video

351,859

2,674

median views per day — highest of any channel measured

Its entire catalogue is inside twelve months, which means everything it has done is currently working — there is no legacy tail propping up the numbers. Its formula, visible in every title:

The formula

1. Fall Asleep While I

— identical prefix every time, so the channel is instantly recognisable in a feed.

2. A verb that sounds slightly criminal — rob, sell, assassinate, hunt, steal, escape, destroy, terrorise, worsen.

3. An absurd object

— a nuclear bomb in my garden, the housing crisis, society with fish.

4. Roughly two hours

, every time.

5. Calm delivery underneath.

The joke is the title; the video is soothing.

Channels ranked on recent form

CHANNEL	SUBS	VIDEOS 12M	MEDIAN V/DAY
sleepyslorgs	154,000	24	2,674
aluhhsim	69,400	2	1,594
MadMorph	851,000	32	1,411
Sleepy Science Channel	334,000	4	1,072
flowstate	388,000	6	559

sleepyslorgs beats MadMorph on views per day with one fifth the subscribers

, because its premises are sharper. MadMorph is the bigger channel; sleepyslorgs is the better template.

07 · LENGTH

Two hours. Every winner is two hours.

LENGTH	N	MEDIAN VIEWS/DAY	P90 VIEWS/DAY
10–60 min	6	2	10
1–2 h	36	918	2,938
2–3 h	71	1,341	8,486
3–5 h	13	879	2,799
5 h+	9	163	2,138

Views per day by duration, videos from the last 2 years only.

The 2–3 hour band wins on both median and p90, and it is where the sample actually lives — 71 of 135 videos. sleepyslorgs runs 1h49–2h43. MadMorph runs 2h00–2h58. Under an hour is effectively dead in this format, and past three hours the returns collapse. One recording session, topped and tailed, is the entire production model.

08 · TWO PEOPLE

Does a duo work in this format?

The format is overwhelmingly solo, but there is a real two-person data point and it is encouraging.

THE EVIDENCE — RECENT, AND AT PARITY VERIFIED DATES

MadMorph × Down To Sleep are two established solo sleep creators who collaborate inside this exact format. Three collabs with confirmed upload dates:

UPLOADED	VIEWS	VIEWS/DAY	VIDEO
15 Mar 2026	469,434	2,713	Pokémon Pokopia
13 Dec 2025	197,717	746	Light Up The Town
8 Nov 2025	96,383	321	Edith Finch

MadMorph’s solo median over the same window is around 912 views/day. The collabs land inside and above that range — and they are current (Nov 2025 to Mar 2026), not historic. Two voices is not a penalty in this format.

BUT OPEN-ENDED CHATTING IS THE WEAK PART — AND THIS IS THE WARNING FOR YOU

Down To Sleep’s own “Ask Me Anything” video did 35 views/day against 284 and 1,084 for that same channel’s structured story narrations — it underperformed its own channel by 8× to 31×. Across the whole sweep, the “we just chat / Q&A / life update” style has no example working at scale. The two-person content that performs is built around doing a thing. “Two friends talking” is the part the data argues against; “two friends doing something ridiculous and talking while they do it” is the part it supports.

WHAT IS STILL UNPROVEN

No channel is built around two people in this format — the duo evidence is collaborations between established solo channels, not a native duo, and it could not be confirmed by listening whether those videos are true two-way banter throughout or a host plus a guest. So: two people demonstrably does not break the format, but nobody has made it a channel’s whole identity yet. That is the opening.

THE PRODUCTION RULE THAT DECIDES IT

Sleep content works because the noise floor is steady. Two friends bantering is the one thing that naturally spikes. Record on separate tracks, compress and hard-limit so a laugh is audible but never louder, and never both raise your voice at once. Get that right and “Fall Asleep While We...” is an untaken position in a format that is currently exploding.

09 · DO THIS

The brief

THE FORMULA, STRAIGHT OFF THE DATA

1. Title: Fall Asleep While We [slightly-wrong verb] [absurd object] . Same prefix every single upload.
2. Activity: action, crime, chaos or building something ridiculous. Not cozy farming — that bucket runs at 104 views/day.
3. Length: 2 to 2 hours 30. Not 45 minutes. Not 5 hours.
4. Delivery: calm, quiet, steady. The premise carries the comedy; your voice stays flat.
5. Cadence: sleepyslorgs put out 24 in twelve months — roughly one every fortnight — and that was enough to build the whole channel.

Ten titles that fit the winning pattern

1. Fall Asleep While We Run the Worst Business in the City
2. Fall Asleep While We Commit Increasingly Petty Crimes
3. Fall Asleep While We Build a Village and Ruin Each Other's Reputations
4. Fall Asleep While We Take Over an Island We Are Not Qualified to Run
5. Fall Asleep While We Steal Everything That Isn't Nailed Down
6. Fall Asleep While We Build the Most Unethical Zoo Possible
7. Fall Asleep While We Terrorise a Perfectly Nice Village
8. Fall Asleep While We Clean Up the Mess We Made Last Video
9. Fall Asleep While We Argue About Something That Doesn't Matter
10. Fall Asleep While We Slowly Destroy the Housing Market

WHERE YOUR ORIGINAL IDEAS FIT

"Our worst rizz attempts" is a talking premise, and the talking-led lane is thinner than the doing-led one — the data here is dominated by people doing something. The strongest version merges the two: do something ridiculous on screen and tell the stories while you do it. Fall Asleep While We Build a Village and Tell You Our Worst Rizz Attempts gets the activity hook that the algorithm rewards and keeps the content you actually want to make.

THE ONE NUMBER TO REMEMBER

9× more people are uploading this format than a year ago, and videos posted in the last six months are outperforming everything older. Both trends are steep. The window is open and it is visibly closing — Kindly Sleepin' went 17 to 17,000 subscribers in a week, in August, doing exactly this.

Sources & confidence. 477 voiced sleep videos identified across 123 channels from targeted YouTube searches on 4 September 2026, with all music, ambience, rain and no-commentary content excluded by filter. Upload dates, view counts and subscriber counts pulled per video; 139 resolved before rate limiting, cross-checked against an independently gathered 154-video dated set that agrees on every headline figure. Views-per-day is views divided by days since upload as of 4 September 2026. Activity buckets are classified by title keyword. Small buckets are labelled with their n so their weight is visible — the action/crime bucket rests on 10 videos and the survival bucket on 5, so treat their exact multiples as directional while the ordering is consistent across both datasets.
